Performance of the medical profession in the Czech Republic

In accordance with the provisions of Section 35 of Act No. 95/2004 Coll. Graduates of accredited medical study programs carried out by universities in the Czech Republic in a language other than Czech are professionally qualified to perform the medical profession. In the territory of the Czech Republic, they can practice their profession after verifying their ability to express themselves professionally in the Czech language. Verification of knowledge of the Czech language takes place through an interview at the Ministry of Health. The applicant will demonstrate the ability to express and communicate professionally in the Czech language, in the form of reading a professional text in the Czech language, reproducing the content of the read text, interviewing a fictitious patient and writing data in fictitious medical documentation.
