The Third Faculty of Medicine of the Charles University (Prague, Czech Republic) has opened the opportunity to apply for free PhD projects within the 1st PhD Day of the Third Faculty of Medicine, which is organized under the auspices of the Vice-Deans of the Third Faculty of Medicine, Prof. Romana Šlamberová and Assoc. Prof. František Duška.

Apply now using the online form to provide us with data about yourself as well as your preferences. Please check medallions of supervisors who are currently offering open positions. PhD Day also provides an attractive opportunity to win the Dean's Prize, in the amount of 1 million CZK (approximately 40,000 EUR), which will be paid in the form of a scholarship to the selected candidate (the financial amount will be spread over three years).
