Trial Access

scite_

Until 28th February, Charles University has trial access to scite_, which allows users to see how a publication has been cited, providing the citation context and classification.

Access to scite_ (via the eResource Portal)

You must set up a user account on the university email whatever@whatever.cuni.cz to use scite_ properly. Students who do not have faculty emails can use the UKID@cuni.cz email by following these instructions:

- UKID = 8-digit number
- Open the web version of Office 365: <https://outlook.office365.com/mail>
- Sign in using your university email address (UKID@cuni.cz).
- If prompted, authenticate using your CAS credentials.

If you already have an account set up for a non-university email, you can only use it within the University's IP address range.

During the trial access, there will be webinars:
